Atom Text Editor Tip Sheet

Overview

You are free to use which ever text editor you prefer and we are happy for you to bring in your own laptops when working on code during the Lab classes.

If you are working on the Swin Lab machines we have had Atom installed for your use in this unit (there may be other editors installed as well which you are also free to use).

Atom allows you to easily install various packages to make life easier. One you may find useful is browser-plus by scandasoft. When installed, this package allows you to open a browser window within Atom that will refresh every time you save your code. It also allows you to access developer tools like the DOM and Console.
